

Objectives:

To understand the nature of correlative biology studies associated with Clinical Trials

To develop an understanding of the requirements for conducting correlative biology studies associated with Clinical Trials.

To develop an approach for incorporating correlative biology questions into a clinical trial.